

Volume 5, Issue 2

November 2015

Sports Center

By Anthony Lloyd

The fall sports seasons are coming to the end. The volleyball team ended with a record of 5-17 overall at the end of their season.

Savannah Moe (Middle) sets the ball in a game against the South Wasco County Redsides.

The team is losing three senior leaders in Hollee, Jasmine and Elvia. The girls are hoping to return to the big sky as a force to be reckoned with next year.

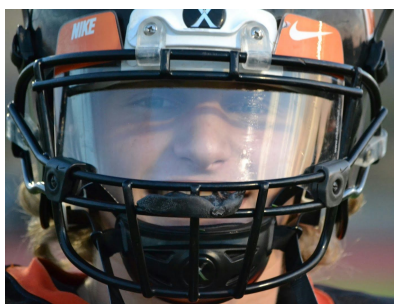

The JV volleyball team gets ready for the serve.

The football team huddles together to hear the next play

As for the football team, they are still going strong. The guys have a record of 6-3. Making this season exceptional for the Sherman County football program.

Go Huskies!

November is Coming

By Mrs. Sohl Taylor

Hint: it's a pop reference.

However, November has now arrived, and with it the second quarter of the 2015-16 school year. This may or may not be exciting to you, but at the very least you may be looking forward to special foods that fall and early winter bring with them. In my case, that food is dark meat turkey and sweet potato pie. Whether or not you celebrate, the colder season brings friends and family together as we escape the cold. As such, we at the Husky Times all wish you a great November!

Table of Contents

Page 1 - Sports, November is Coming

Page 2 - Tales From Around the World, The Real MVP

Page 3 - Thanksgiving Away From Home, Homecoming

Page 4 - 10ish Commandments for Surviving a Horror Movie, Husky Polls, Last Issue's Poll Results, Staff Answers November's Poll

The Real MVP

by Isaiah Alden Coles

Last season the National Basketball Association's Most Valuable Player award was up for grabs and the race was extremely close between two of the NBA's very best, James Harden and Stephen Curry. Even as James Harden carried his team nearly every single game all the way to the NBA playoffs and later to the semifinals, the career long Golden State Warrior Stephen Curry was awarded MVP.

Whilst many argue that Stephen Curry deserved the award due to his fortitude and shooting/ball handling prowess, by definition James Harden should have been named MVP. James Harden persevered and averaged twenty seven points a game last season even as his team was riddled by injuries.

The teammates who were injured include Nick Johnson, Clint Capela, Patrick Beverly, Tarik Black, Terrence Jones, Dwight Howard, Isaiah Caanan, Kostas Papanikaloua, Francisco Garcia, Jason Terry and K.J McDaniels.

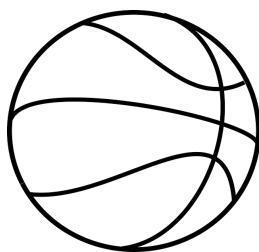

Now at this point you are probably thinking how did this team make it all the way to the NBA semifinals?

One answer, James Harden. James Harden was by far the most impressive player in the NBA last season in terms of carrying his team no matter who they played, James Harden showed up.

Taking a quick look at the Warriors we can see that the team consists of three main scorers Stephen Curry, Klay Thompson and Draymond Green. Just because the three most notable scorers are these three does not mean that others do not step up for the Warriors, Iguodala, Barnes, Livingston and Barbosa are known to drop splendid games with explosive baskets that fuel Warrior runs or continue them.

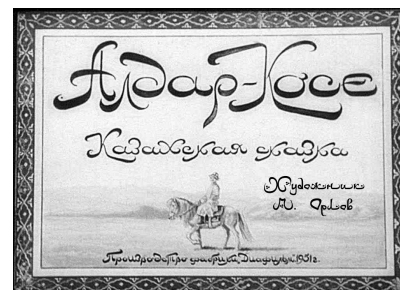

When you think of the Warriors you think Steph, Klay, Draymond. When you think of the Rockets you think James Harden and Dwight when he shows up.

Bottom line, the Rockets are not a good team, they have two good players who carry them every single game, one of those players being The Beard, James Harden, who is the real 2014-2015 MVP even if he does not have the award.

Tales from around the World

Amy Dabulskis

This month we will travel from Sweden to the heart of Eurasia; to the country of Kazakhstan to hear its most famous tale of

Aldar Kose a man who tricked the rich and gave to the poor, and how he tricked the bai (or rich man). On a cold winter's day Aldar Kose was riding across the steppe shivering in his hole ridden coat. As he was traveling he saw the local bai in the distance, who automatically headed toward him. Aldar immediately pretended to be too warm. When the bai reached him, Aldar told the man that his magical coat was making him too warm. When the bai heard this, he offered his coat, hat, horse, and money to get Aldar's coat. Aldar agreed and rode away quickly leaving the bai with his hole-ridden coat.

Homecoming Week

By Connor Davis

From left: Emily Hill, Jeanna Hill, Emily Poirier, Ellie Davis as Pink Ladies.

Homecoming week was a huge success. Compared to the past few years, this year's turn out for dress up days had the most participation in a long time.

As for the winners, Monday's were Alyssa Hill, Michael Cnossen, Kiersten Casper, Wyatt Stutzman, and Mrs. Remington.

Tuesday's Star Wars winners were Mercedes Cardona, Will James, Becca Earl, Treve Martin, and Mrs. Sohl-Taylor. Tuesday's twin winners were Garak/Mr. Casper, Grace Poirier/Rachel Westlake, Jacob/Jaylyn Justesen, Amy Dabulskis/Alima Abdulatif, and Max/Luke Martin.

Wednesday's winners were Alyssa Hill, Jonny Nagel, Kiersten Casper, Brett Lane and Mrs. Whitley.

Thursday's 50's celebrity winners were Mercedes Cardona, Ashdon Standridge, Jasmine Wilson, and Mrs. Whitley. Thursday's winners for When I Grow Up were Savanna Orendorff, Jonny Nagel, Hollee Kaseberg, Hunter Kaseberg, and Mr. Pfeifer.

Friday's Orange and Black winners were Alyssa Hill, Jonny Nagel, Jeanna Hill, Joe McAllister, and Audrey Rooney.

Thanksgiving Away From Home

By Athena Marvitz

Thanksgiving is just around the corner for us, but some countries have already celebrated it. These are the four countries around the world, including America, that also celebrate Turkey Day.

Eat TONS and take a nap.

Canada: The Canadians celebrate their Thanksgiving on the second Monday in October. They eat the same kind of food that we do and don't have any fantastic celebrations. It's Canada, what do you expect?

Brazil: Brazil celebrates their Thanksgiving, "Dia de Acao de Gracias" on the fourth thursday in November, like us. Their thanksgiving is most famous for it's Dia de Gracias Carnival.

China: China has their form of Thanksgiving on the fifteenth day of the eighth lunar month (August 15). They celebrate with a festival nicknamed the "Women's Festival" because of its romantic nature. During the festival, couples go out into the moonlight and profess their love for each other. Participating supposedly brings good luck to their relationship.

Many other countries around the world celebrate Thanksgiving, but for us, it's all about the food, the football and the fantastic parade.

The 10(ish) Commandments for Surviving a Horror Movie

By the Entire Staff

Dear Readers, to prepare you for the coming fall, the season of horror movies, we give you these commandments. If you do not follow them, we at the Husky Times cannot guarantee that you will survive if you should find yourself in a horror movie.

1. Thou shalt not physically engage with another.
2. Thou shalt not imbibe obscene substances.
3. Thou shalt avoid speaking unfortunate words, such as “Who’s there?”, “Hello”, or “I’ll be right back”.
4. Thou shalt not trip or look back while escaping a killer.
5. Thou must not open doors.
6. Thou shalt not wait for someone who is slow.
7. Thou shalt not be the hero.
8. Thou must limber up prior to combat. Cardio is suggested.
9. Thou shalt not be the jock or cheerleader.
10. Thou shalt avoid secluded areas at all costs.
11. Thou shalt not go alone.

The Husky Times wants to know:
*Who is your favorite actor/actress?

The Husky Times also wants to know:
*What are your favorite movies for 2014-2015?

Put your answers to these polls in the Husky Times Poll Box Now located in Mr. Pfeifer's room!

Results from the last poll:
No one answered whether or not we should have cheerleaders!
No love for the Husky Poll :(

Husky Staff's November's Poll

Movies of 2014-2015

- Mrs. Sohl Taylor votes for Mad Max: Fury Road.
- Amy Dabulskis votes for Mockingjay: Part 1
- Connor Davis & Bailey Gonzalez votes for American Sniper
- Isaiah Coles votes for The Theory of Everything
- Athena Marvitz votes for The Gift
- Ellie Davis votes for Vacation

Actor/actress:

It's a tricky question, we need some help here. Please share your answers with us!